

1 that he wanted the traditional.

2 I would like to read to you just a second
3 here a statement by Mr. McGeorge Bundy, when he was 4 asked, And what about public education, secondary and 5 elementary? Here is what he said, and I think that you 6 people should remember this, because certainly you have 7 taken some bold and made some bold changes and extensive
8 changes in the Constitution up to this point.

9 Here is what he says: It comes from an article
10 in The Star, written by Ralph McGill, Crisis in Education,
11 Students and Finances: We are in a grave and deepening 12 crisis in public education, says Mr. Bundy. The burden 13 of proof is not on those who urge change. The burden of 14 proof is on those who do not urge change.

15 I would like for you to keep that in mind also.
16 Thank you.

17 THE CHAIRMAN: Delegate Lord, you have a little 18 less than four and a half minutes to allot.

19 DELEGATE LORD: Mr. Chairman, fellow delegates,
20 I will use probably most of this time, and then will yield 21 back the remainder.
